Groenbook Initiative Reveals Winning Game Plan

In a top-secret toolbox meeting of key stakeholders from all demonstration sites, it was decided to abandon all best/promising “practices” in exchange for a single “winning game plan”. In direct response to research published last month in The Journal of Root Causes, Initiative leaders have adopted the following winning strategy—eradicate poverty, oppression, and violent conflict resolution.

Toolbox organizers speculated the fit of never-before-seen “scope creep” might be the result of oxygen-boosted air mistakenly diverted to the Reno hotel conference room from the casino. One participant was quoted as saying, “We just decided it might be easier to eliminate the problems than to improve collaboration on the consequences.”

The plan was met with OOOOHHS and AAAAHHS at the local level. The NET, LRP’s, and Project Directors set a meeting for next month in Tahiti to contemplate the change in course.
Grünkbo Federal Partners met recently to discuss the possibility of holding a series of protracted conference calls to coordinate the meetings regarding coordinated, collaborative decision making among partners. They are currently working on a memorandum of understanding. Demonstrating sites were delighted with the news. While there will be dramatic budget cutbacks, the national component of the project and all local activities should continue unhindered.

Grünkbo Evaluation Goes International

In response to an international outcry for more protocol sharing, the Grünkbo Evaluation will go global sometime early next year. Thirty demonstration sites will be selected from a Coalition of The Willing. Stay tuned for future reports!

… And now for something completely different …

On a serious ♪, FVRI would like to thank all our local partners for keeping Vertbook ideas alive in these ever changing and often trying times.

And remember, you might be doing “Greenbook” even when you least expect it. It’s everywhere!

QUIZ: Can you identify all the translations of GREEN?

Hawaiian, Spanish/Portuguese/Italian, Dutch, Yiddish, German, French, English

This ends our brief break with reality. We now return you to your regularly scheduled work day …

Page Too